DEAN BILL WAS KILLED TUESDAY BY VOTE OF 60 TO 56

Effort to Reconsider Was Also Checkmated by "Drys"

MAY SPRING NEW BILL

By Offering Measure Applying Option Feature to 88 Cities Only.

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Rumors are current today that a new home rule bill will be introduced to exempt from the operation of the Rose law the 88 cities of Ohio. The dry leaders claim such a bill will not pass and that they doubt its introduction.

Columbus, Feb. 22.—"It's dollars against humanity," the last words of the last of 17 speeches yesterday, uttered in vibrant, impassioned voice by John R. Freiner of Vinton, rang in the ears of the members of the house as they voted, 56 to 60, and killed the Dean bill.

Immediately, Alexander of Hamilton, floor leader of the bill, changed his vote for the negative side, making the official count 55 to 61, that he later in the week might try for reconsideration, if votes the wets lost could be recovered. That move was checkmated.

Foreseeing this Alexander tried to adjourn the house, but lost by 55 to 58. A call of the house brought back jubilant drys, who were hurrying out to tell the news and a motion by Black of Ashland to reconsider at once, was beaten, 55 to 59, and put a definite end for this session to the measure, which, had it received four votes more, would have afforded municipalities in 66 dry counties opportunity to vote themselves wet with prospect of this being done in 55 counties and the reopening of 1100 closed saloons.

Out of the ashes of their hopes the wets moulded a plan to introduce a new bill, limited to cities. This intention explains why the expected cities amendment was not offered to the Dean bill yesterday. If the bill applies to cities, 88 will be affected. Had the dean bill gone through yesterday it would have applied to 600 municipalities, which term embraces villages.

With other state officers on the floor, contrary to the rules, Adjutant General Weybrecht yesterday kept tab on the vote, raced downstairs and before the clerks had tallied it placed a copy of the ballot in the hands of Governor Harmon, who, with State Chairman Nichols, was waiting the result. It caused them no regret that the bill was dead and the chief executive would escape having to decide what to do with it.

In keen disappointment the wets held the governor responsible for their defeat. For them, Percy Andreas of Cincinnati issued a statement, which charged all who had opposed the liberal interests, openly or covertly, with "cunning, selfishness and cowardice," and while not mentioning the governor, meant him and his presidential candidacy. In saying there would be "a nation-wide significance" to the day's proceedings which had been watched, he declared, "by the organized liberal elements throughout the United States."

Interference by the governor, if there was any was too subtly made to leave a clear trail, and what proof the wet leaders may have, was not disclosed. Every doubtful member of the house had his individual excuse or reason for his final action and none of these reasons included deference to a request from Harmon.

The issue was met as an issue. There was no flinching, save in the case of Speaker Vining, who, against pressure from the wets, adhered to his habit of not voting on pending measures.

Every other member voted, save Billingslea of Butler, who has been bedfast for weeks. Canty of Hocking —both ill and on the doubtful list—arrived during the debate and voted dry.

Greeves of Cleveland told how, against his physician's advice, he had arisen from a sick bed with the assistance of an injection of morphine, and had come to Columbus to vote for the bill. The injection gave him strength enough to enable him to make two speeches for it.

Day of Chillicothe and Irwin of Preble were the only members of whom there had been any doubt, who were captured by the wets.

All the others, including Crawford of Huron, Boeschler of Noble Boggs of Belmont, Brewer of Cuyahoga, Canty of Hocking and Evans of Stark, were captured by the drys. The struggle to decide brought Evans almost to a physical collapse. The surprises were the negative votes of Bruce of Cincinnati and Wyman of Shelby.

"The brewers did not have me on their list on election day and I did not have them on my list today," Bruce said.

He explained after adjournment that the liberals had asked him to make a campaign pledge for the Dean bill, that he had told them that he would not make any promises regarding any legislation, and that they had fought him and the entire Democratic delegation in the campaign. He also said he had voted wet at the Beal election in College Hill on the promise of the brewers that they would set up only one saloon in the village and they had broken faith, establishing four or five, one of them a dive. The two Cincinnati Democrats, Bruce and Beatty, divided their votes, which was said to mean that the governor's home county had not taken sides and would show he was neutral.

Though charged in the debate with being the whisky party, the Democrats were almost evenly divided, 36 for the bill and 31 against it. The Republicans gave 19 votes for the bill and 29 against it.

The Cleveland filibuster faded into the thin air which had formed its only substance. So closely had the Cuyahoga Democratic organization been tied for years to the liberal interests in Cleveland that the delegation was helpless to free itself and the calling of its bluff left it the object of expressed ridicule by wets and drys alike. All of the Clevelanders voted for the bill except Brewer, who was against it anyway.

However, there were those who figured that the wets could have saved their bill had they conceded the Cleveland demand for the passage of the Stockwell senatorial bill. This calculation was on the strength of the report that the Clevelanders had an understanding whereby they could have delivered Brewer for the bill and also Bruce and Evans of Stark. That would have made 59, and if the report that Boeschler of Noble would have voted for it if one vote would have put the bill across was true, the 60 votes could have been had.

Charging broken pledges, one wet leader, claimed to have had the votes of Bruce, Boggs, Brewer, Winans, Wyman and Smith of Marion. No one else was found who would believe that the wets ever had had Smith or others on this list.

More nearly accurate was generally believed to be the statement of another wet leader Monday night that there were only 61 pledges for the

TO FOCUS ATTENTION ON THE PROPERTY YOU WANT TO SELL!

Always, in every live city, there's real estate for sale. This being an especially live city, there is always property on the market.

To focus the attention of prospective and possible buyers on YOUR PROPERTY—in spite of the babel of offers that are urged upon their notice—it is a problem demanding a business-like solution.

IT CAN BE DONE. Some advertiser of property for sale is doing it every day. But it requires real advertising — a reasonable amount of "keeping at it" until the property is sold.

FEDERAL TROOPS BURN AND PILLAGE HAITIAN TOWN WHILE ENGAGED IN DOWNING NEW REVOLUTION IN TROUBLED LAND

Government troops, after playing hide and seek with rebels in Haiti, recaptured Ouanaminth from the insurrectionists and then got out of control of their officers, burned the town and killed most of the inhabitant who were unable to escape. The army which is a comic opera affair, consisting of 650 soldiers, and ten generals, left Cape Haitien and proceeded to Port Au Prince, where serious trouble was started by rebels.

GEO. B. COX INDICTED BY HAMILTON COUNTY GRAND JURY ON PERJURY CHARGE

GEORGE B. COX

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—George B. Cox, Republican leader of Hamilton county and well known as an important factor in state and national politics, was indicted yesterday by the Hamilton county grand jury on the charge of perjury. Mr. Cox received the news at the office of the Cincinnati Trust [illegible] president, and [illegible] court house [illegible] $1000 for [illegible] is called.

The indictment [illegible] committed [illegible] 1906, when he appeared before the January term of the grand jury of that year and denied that he had ever received any portion of the perquisites or interest gratuities which for many years banks had paid to county treasurers for the use of money left on deposit with them. From the fact that former Treasurer Gibson had been instructed by the court Monday to answer certain questions propounded to him by the present grand jury, the inference is drawn that Mr. Gibson's testimony was regarded by that body as sufficient to warrant Mr. Cox's indictment on the charge of perjury.

Dramatic incidents attended the presentation of the indictment in the court room, but the sensation that ordinarily would have been produced by a charge against such a prominent individual had been largely discounted by persistent rumors of such action.

When he returned to his office [illegible] Mr. Cox dictated a statement reiterating the truth of his testimony of 1906 and expressing [illegible] the proceedings of yesterday. He seemed especially hurt that attack should have been made on his veracity, declaring that more than any thing else he had always prided himself on being a man of his word.

LORIMER FIGHT IN SENATE

Supporters of Illinois Man Claim They are in Majority

RANKS STRENGTHENED

In the Last Few Days—Beveridge Leads the Opposition.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The birthday of the man who could not tell a lie saw the threshing out in the U. S. senate of one of the most sensational scandals, involving charges of corruption, falsification and the worst forms of public debauchery in the history of the country, when final action was taken upon the Illinois legislative election by which Wm. Lorimer was named U. S. Senator.

The controversy first began to assume definite shape May 22, 1910, when Lorimer arose to a question of personal privilege and called attention to certain newspaper allegations. These declared that the legislature of Illinois had been improperly influenced by the use of money and that Lorimer, the beneficiary, had guilty knowledge that votes had been purchased for him.

After denying all the charges preferred against him, Lorimer demanded an investigation by his associates in the senate. At the conclusion of his speech, he offered a resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to "examine the allegations recently made in the public press, charging that bribery and corruption were practiced in the election of Wm. Lorimer."

It was held by the senate authorities that no cognizance could be taken of Lorimer's request, as no charges had been filed with the committee. Newspaper articles did not constitute the basis for an official inquiry. When that conclusion became known, one of the franchise organizations in Illinois filed formal charges. On June 18, 1910, Senator Burrows introduced a resolution providing for a comprehensive investigation of the allegations made against Lorimer and it was adopted. Seven members of the committe on privileges conducted an investigation during the autumn months. Six of them, Senator Frazier dissenting, prepared a report exonerating Lorimer. This conclusion was accepted by the full committee, with the exception of Senators Beveridge and Frazier, both of whom later filed individual views.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma brought the matter up for debate early this session, making a strong speech in favor of declaring the seat vacant. He offered a resolution to that effect, which was referred to the committee on privileges and elections. In presenting his dissenting opinion, Beveridge offered a similar resolution and has since renewed it.

Beveridge has been the leading spirit in seeking the exclusion of Lorimer. He has been ably seconded by Senators Crawford, Cummins, Bristow, Brown, Burton, Jones, Borah and Root. Senators Bailey and Burrows have persistently defended Lorimer. They have been aided by Senators Paynter, Gamble, Johnston, and Fletcher. The entire fight against Lorimer has been conducted on the proposition that his seat shall be declared vacant, which would require but a majority, or 46 votes. No objection to this has been raised by the friends of Lorimer, but it was expected before a final termination of the struggle was reached that they would insist that if eliminated from the seat he must be expelled, which would necessitate two-thirds, or 62 votes.

The supporters of Lorimer developed a somewhat surprising display of confidence early today and passed the word around that Lorimer expected to have 55 votes in his favor.

"Lorimer had only seven majority in the Illinois legislature," said one of his backers. "If our expectations are fulfilled, he will have a majority of nine in the senate."

No senator having been named to succeed the late Senator Hughes of Colorado, the body now consists of 91 members. If Lorimer refrained from voting there would be a possibility of a tie on the question of the adoption of the resolution declaring his seat vacant in which event the resolution would be lost.

The claims of the Lorimer men were not given much credence by the opposition senators, but there was a general impression that in the last few days the Lorimer ranks had been strengthened.

TERRIBLE STRAIN RESULTED NOT AMISS

A Lenoir Lady, After Two Weeks Grinding Labor, Feels Better Than Ever.

Lenoir, N. C.—"I am not tired at all, and am stouter than I have ever been," writes Mrs. Kate Waters, of Lenoir, N. C., "although I have just finished a two weeks' wash. I lay my strength to Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken a lot of it and I can never praise it enough for what it has done for me. I can never thank you enough for the advice you gave me, to take Cardui, for since taking it I look so well and am stout as a mule."

You are urged to take Cardui, that gentle, vegetable tonic, for weak women. Its use will strengthen and build up your system, relieve or prevent headache, backache and the ailments of weak women.

It will surely help you, as it has helped thousands of others, in the past 50 years.

COL. GILLETT MINSTRELS A BIG SUCCESS

Friends in this city have received posters and Jos. Kuster, Jr., a large cabinet photo of the Col. Gillett Minstrels," lately given at Smithport, Pa., and which were pronounced par excellent.

Mr. Kuster will have his photo framed and it will occupy a prominent position in the Kuster gallery of stage people which is famed throughout the country as one of the finest of its kind.

In the picture of Colonel Gillett, the well known resident of the Licking Light and Power company, occupies a position in the foreground and depicts the ideal minstrel manager. He is clothed in a Prince Albert coat, high hat and white spats and has a cane in his hand looking for all the world just as if he was ready to start twirling it when he leads the parade up the principal street of the city.

A local paper in speaking of the affair stated that the Colonel Gillett minstrels was one of the finest affairs of the kind ever produced in Smithport. Colonel Gillett was given encore after encore for his excellent rendition of the great late song hit "Those Boo-Loo Eyes," and his splendid work as interlocutor in the first part, looking the ideal Appolo Belvedro in his white satin Colonial costume, would have been the envy of all professionals.

The paper comments further on the genial Colonel's work in the olio when he most excellently portrayed the character of Othello in a traveling sketch which brought down the house. The two performances given by the minstrels cleared a large sum of money which was turned over to a charitable organization.

Friends of Colonel Gillett will endeavor to interest him in a local entertainment when he returns to this city and it may be that he will consent to appear and show what he is capable of in a histronic way.

The teams will draw for places at 7 o'clock Friday evening in Mr. Page's office. Local college basketball players will probably officiate at the game.

The high schools entered are Zanesville, Cadiz, Marysville, West Milton (which won the championship last year), Stivers of Dayton, Plain City, Grove City, Xenia, Westerville, Mansfield, Newark and Delaware.

SAM LANGFORD DEFEATS LANG IN SIX ROUNDS

FORMER AUSTRALIAN CHAMPION NO MATCH FOR BIG AMERICAN NEGRO.

Latter Hit Opponent When and Where He Willed and Was Fouled By the Dazed White Pugilist.

London, Feb. 22.—Bill Lang, who once held the championship of Australia, was no match for Sam Langford, the American colored pugilist, in a scheduled 20-round bout at the Olympia last night. Langford won in the sixth round when Lang was disqualified, but the contest could not have gone much longer, as Lang was almost out when he committed the foul.

Six thousand spectators gathered at the Olympia to witness what they expected would be a long and fast fight and they showed great disappointment when the contest ended abruptly. After six fierce rounds, when Langford was down, the Australian, in a dazed sort of way, rushed at the American and struck him and immediately the referee proclaimed Langford the winner.

The Australian with all his natural advantages, including an extra 52 pounds in weight, was hopelessly outclassed by the colored man, who walked into him and hit from all angles, where and when he willed.

The only redeeming feature of Lang's showing was his gameness in taking punishment. As early as the first round, Langford punched him all about the ring. In the second the negro forced the Australian into a neutral corner and dropped him for a count of nine, with terrific left and rights to the jaw.

Lang went down again for nine in the third round by a right to the point of the jaw, but came back in the fourth and stood up and exchanged left and right swings with Langford at a terrific rate. At that point of the bout both of Lang's eyes were almost closed and Langford was laughing.

The Australian took a long count twice more in the fifth, but in spite of the heavy punishment he carried the fight to Langford the next time up and, in a fast fighting rally, put the latter down, but this was more by accident than anything else.

SEAT DEMAND CANNOT BE MET FOR CARNIVAL

Of Athletics at Ohio Wesleyan Tonight Will Close with Denison-O. W. U. Basketball Game.

Delaware, Feb. 22.—The most noted athletic exhibition of the year at Ohio Wesleyan University will take place Wednesday evening in connection with the Washington's birthday festival. The program embraces a crack squad drill by the military department an Irish jig and garland dance by the Monnett girls, tumbling and pyramids, fencing, jumping jacks, Indian clubs, and the basketball contest between Ohio Wesleyan and Denison. The demand for seats has been far in excess of the possibilities and 2000 people will witness the show.

PAINT WITHOUT OIL

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY THAT CUTS DOWN THE COST OF PAINT SEVENTY-FIVE PER CENT.

A Free Trial Package is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powderpaint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fire proof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint and costs about one-fourth as much.

Write to Mr. A. L. Rice, Manuf'r., 602 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

A very delightful party was given Friday evening by the Misses Ruth Weaver and Margaret Bennett at the former's home in Eddy street. After pairing the couples off in an unique way an interesting guessing contest was enjoyed in which the successful contestants were Miss Mabelle Mitchell and Mr. William Cutler. At 9:20 a delicious three course supper was served the following guests: Misses Mabelle Mitchell, Mabel Soliday, Elizabeth Owens, Kathryn Jones of Granville, Maude Sanford, Margaret Bennett, Ruth Weaver, and Sara Bennett and the Messrs. Warren Miller, Tracy Patrick, John Hoskinson and William Cutler of Denison University at Granville and Paul Weaver and David J. Bennett.

On Tuesday evening the members of the Patriarchs Militant degree of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, planned and executed a complete surprise on Chevalier Louis Spees, Sr., it being his birthday anniversary During the evening, and after he had recovered from the first shock of the occasion, Louis Spees Jr. presented him with a combination Past Grand and Past Chief Patriarch's Collar, in behalf of the family. Then after reaction had set in, Brother S. D Albaugh presented him with a Patriarch Militant watch charm of solid gold, in behalf of the Chevaliers of Canton Olive, No. 90, of Ohio After visiting awhile the party all repaired to the dining room where a most delicious five course dinner was served, and at just the right time Chevalier Spees sprung a complete surprise on his guests by having a photographer appear on the scene and take a picture of the dining room and guests as they were seated at the gorgeously decorated table. The decorations used were emblems of the I. O. O. F.

Those present were Mr and Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Froelick, Mr and Mrs. E. H. Camp, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs S. D. Allbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bigbee, Mr. and Mrs. W. F Nebls, Mr and Mrs L. H. Spees, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Spees, Miss Bertha Wilson, Irene Hey, Mary Spees and Elizabeth Spees, Mr. George Denelsbeck, Leonard Jones, Edward Wilson, Walter J. Holman, F. E. Holman, James McArtor, and Mr and Mrs. Louis Spees Sr The out of town guests were Mr and Mrs Elzie Bolin of Granville. At a late hour the guests left for their respective homes, each one feeling that it was good to have been there, and that they had spent a most delightful evening and wishing their host and hostess many happy returns of the day. No one of the entire party found out how many winters their genial host has charged up against him in the great Book of Life.

Misses Rebecca and Elizabeth Crist of Jacksontown delightfully entertained with a six o'clock dinner on Friday evening Misses Mary Osburn, Fannie and Grace Gray and Zona Yancey of Hanover.

Mr and Mrs George Bash of Granville entertained Sunday Misses Grace Fry, Mabel Fry, Ruth Daley, Ella Wilson, Messrs. Earl Fry, Charles Willams, all of Newark, Stanley Bishop, Margaret Leatherman of Granville.

Mrs. James McWilliams will entertain the members of the Proctor club with an afternoon card party on Thursday at her home in Tenth street. The game for the entertaining hours will be euchre.

The Training Table of Denison university entertained Tuesday evening with a banquet of delightful appointments at the able's house in West Broadway in Granville. It is customary of this organization to honor the professors of the school and last evening Prof. G. F. McKibben of the French department and Prof. C. L. Williams of the English department who were complimented.

The table was prettily arranged with favors characteristic of the Washington birthday festival and an elaborate menu was served. Covers were laid for about forty diners.

The Unity Reading Circle was entertained on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Warner in Vine street and the following program proved most entertaining to the members and guests:

Roll Call—Brief Accounts of Famous Women.

Julius Caesar, concluded — Leader, Mrs. Barrick, assisted by Mrs. Rhoads, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Burch, Mrs. Coulter, Miss Murphy, and Miss Louden.

Topic of the Day, "What Women Have Done for Child Life" — Mrs. Sachs.

Critic—Mrs. Mitchell.

A luncheon of two courses was served the club members and the following guests: Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. Samuel Sachs, Mrs. Walker, Miss Besse Glenn, Miss Margaret Lisey and Miss Martha Sachs.

The Married People's Assembly dances this evening at Assembly hall.

The members of Hetuck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, are entertaining with a feature program this evening at the home of Mrs. Clifford Sturgeon in North Fifth street. The event honors the birthday anniversary celebrated today of George Washington.

Mrs. Edwin Besuden entertained the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club on the club day of this week at her home in Hudson avenue. The souvenirs to members were awarded Mrs. Edward Kibler and Mrs. George Flory while Mrs Judson Lewis received the guest's favor.

The guests of the club were Mrs. Judson Lewis, Mrs. Daniel Altshool, Mrs. A. R. Pitser, Miss Anne Davis, Miss Agnes Walsh of Dayton and Miss Ulrick of Lancaster.

The meeting next week will be at the home of Mrs. George Flory.

The Thursday Afternoon Sewing club will have for its hostess this week Mrs. Clark Provine at her home in Fulton avenue.

The members of the J. E Card club were entertained Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs Orla Lewis of North Williams street The prizes for the club game, euchre, were awarded Mrs. Leo Hiler and Mr. O Lewis, and the consolation to Mr and Mrs. R Lambert. Several pretty piano selections were rendered after which a dainty repast was served.

Mrs Anna Lyon entertained with an informal evening party last week at her home in Eastern avenue, honoring Mr August J. Frey of Pittsburg. The evening's entertainment was made up of music and a three course supper was served

The following were present: Mr and Mrs. Charles Keenan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Linn and family, Mrs. Stem and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moreland, Mr. and Mrs. Claggett, Miss Zwffie Claggett, Evelyn Linn, Irene Claggett, Mrs. Kluse and family, Mr Charles Powerel, Harry Broweman of Wheeling, Joe Sedlick of Philadelphia and Mrs. George Hertline of Columbus.

Mrs. Thomas Bl..d of 516 East Main street, was remembered by a number of her friends on Tuesday, February 21, it being her fifty-sixth birthday anniversary and a surprise. Mrs Blind received many tokens of the high esteem in which she is held by her many friends and an enjoyable evening was spent.

The Thursday Evening Euchre club entertained on Tuesday evening with a dinner party and miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Louis Meyers in North Fourth street, honoring Miss Ethel Woodward. Dinner was served at six o'clock and the table was prettily arranged with individual candle sticks bearing white tapers. Heart shaped place cards seated the guests.

The following were served: Misses Ethel Woodward, Besse Taafel, Rhea Ingler, Lillian Kammerer, Emma Kammerer, Jessie Sweeting, Amy Alspach, Edith Woodward, Lillian Rugg, Helen Pigg, Helen Redman and Mrs. Meyers.

The shower followed the menu and Miss Woodward received many beautiful gifts. Euchre was the game of the evening and the souvenir went to Miss Besse Taafel who in turn presented it to Miss Woodward, whose marriage to Mr. Walter Frazier of Frazeysburg takes place Thursday noon at the Woodward home in West Church street.

HEART and HOME TALKS — Confessions of a Young Housekeeper

by Barbara Boyd

Giving a Card Party.

NO MORE Washington Birthday parties for me, though I don't suppose things were any worse because it was Washington's Birthday than they would have been on any other occasion. I gave mine yesterday because Edith is going to have a big dance tonight, and I didn't want to conflict. And I had it in the afternoon, because Jim doesn't like cards, and that would let him out. I thought it didn't matter being a little previous with George. I think he was rather a previous person himself. Seems to me I have a hazy recollection of his getting up ahead of time and doing something, and surprising the British, and winning a battle.

I had the house all fixed prettily with flags and hatchets, and I had little cherry trees on the table, and red candle shades, and drums and guns and various other appropriate things for favors. Then I sailed into getting the things ready for the salad and making a very particular kind of frothy whipped cream delicacy with a custard dressing. Just at the critical time (it always happens that way—when you can't leave things a minute because they'll burn or boil over or do something dastardly) the door opened and in walked Jim.

He looked awful pale and I was terribly scared. "What's the matter?" I gasped.

"Sick headache. The worst I've ever had."

"Oh! Isn't that awful! Go right upstairs and lie down. I'll be up just as soon as I can leave these," and I made a gesture of dismay around the kitchen.

He didn't look very pleased, but he went gloomily off, and I hurried up in a few minutes. He was terribly pale, and I just wanted to sit down and bathe his forehead with headache cologne. But that dessert really must be attended to. Besides a sick headache isn't really serious like spinal meningitis or diphtheria or hydrophobia.

"I'll have to run down in a few minutes and finish that dessert," I said as I fussed around.

"Oh, well, if you think more of a dessert than you do of me," moaned Jim.

"Of course, I don't, honey love. But I really must have everything ready. They'll be here in a little while now."

Jim groaned.

I hated awfully to go down and leave him, but I just knew I must. When I came up again, I said:

"The best thing for a sick headache is absolute quiet. I'll tell you what I think will be the wise thing to do. You just go over in the back room and go to bed there, and I'll pull down the shades and make you comfy, and I won't say a word about your being sick."

"Oh, well. Anything you say. I can lie in there and die."

It quite upset me to have Jim so melancholy. I nearly made the salad wrong, and I never noticed that I put the custard dressing for the dessert in the mayonnaise bowl.

Just as the folks were taking off their wraps an awful groan came from Jim's room.

"Mercy! What's that?" some one asked.

"You hear noises terribly in these houses," I said, nervously.

All through the game, every once in awhile, Jim would groan. By the time refreshments came everybody was feeling nervous. However, the table looked so cheery and the salad so pretty on my green and gold salad plates that I chirked up a bit. Mrs. Blank took a mouthful of salad and nearly choked. Edith gave me an awful queer look after she tasted hers. "Merciful heavens!" I thought, "what is the matter?" I tasted mine. I had put the custard dressing on the salad. Just then another awful groan came from Jim. Everybody finished hastily, and they almost made a run for the dressing-room to get their things on. I'm sure they thought some awful thing had happened.

But I didn't care what they thought. I flew up to Jim.

"I think I'm dying," he said in a sepulchral whisper. "I never felt so bad in my life."

However, when I told him they were gone and when I sat down and bathed his head I noticed he revived quite rapidly.

Macaroni Croquettes—Break one-quarter of a pound of macaroni into half-inch pieces and boil rapidly in plenty of boiling salted water for about twenty-five minutes; throw in cold water for five minutes to blanch, then drain. Scald one large teaspoonful of butter and two rounding tablespoonfuls of flour together until smooth, then stir this into the scalded milk. Stir continually until it thickens; add the yolk of one egg, heat for half a minute over the fire add the macaroni, one tablespoonful of Parmesan cheese, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well, cool and form into croquettes; roll in egg and bread crumbs and fry in smoking hot fat. Serve with cream sauce.

Chestnut Sponge Cake—One pound of sugar twelve ounces of flour, twelve ounces of chestnut meal, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, eight eggs, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat the egg yolks and sugar until very light, add the flour and stiff beaten whites, the nut meal, vanilla and baking powder. Put in small oblong pans, dust with powdered sugar and bake in a moderate oven.

Many Women Now Doing Without False Hair.

Rats and other false paraphernalia for the upbuilding of woman's thinned out hair may be necessary, but the sight is far from pleasing.

With care he... can supply to most women a the hair necessary for attractive dressing.

Many thousands of women, refined and educated, have learned that it is not hard to have, and to keep an abundance of lustrous hair, if Parisian Sage, the hair grower is used daily.

Since its introduction into America, Parisian Sage has become a prime favorite with women who desire luxuriant hair that will not fall out or turn gray, used daily it will keep the scalp immaculately clean; will stop itching and falling hair, and remove every particle of dandruff.

It causes the hair to grow because it is able to penetrate into the roots where it, besides nourishing the hair, destroys the dandruff germs Evans' drug store and druggists everywhere guarantee Parisian Sage to do exactly as advertised or money back. A large bottle costs only 50 cents and it is a most invigorating and refreshing hair dressing. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

"Have patience" is a very good motto for the doctor.

INDIGESTION AND STOMACH TROUBLE ENDS

If you had some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or Indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach. Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors

Pape's Diapepsin is certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance

There are nearly 27,000 reindeer in Alaska, the descendants of about 600 which were imported less than a dozen years ago.

WILL SOON MAKE HER DEBUT AT CAPITAL

Miss Alice Boutell, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Boutell, will soon make her debut in Washington society. She made her debut in Canada just before going to the capital. She is a charming young woman and will be a great addition to the younger Congressional society set.

AN UP-TO-DATE DRUGGIST

says it is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by F. D. Hall, druggist.

Society folks in the big cities are now working overtime. Smaller towns and the country are supposed to be hibernating with the groundhog. But often the connection of a few churches and societies for the attendance and loose change of a limited field produces a high tension.

The loneliest place is the stuffy respectable street of a large city. There one can't go beyond the frayed fringes of ... while people are too ... comradeship often ... poor.

The newspaper list of those present at entertainments is society's book of ... of social prizes handed to some while others draw blanks, and many ... strings to two. But ... circles of the ... extended ones may themselves ... power to be reckoned with ... social ...

The most ... social life is apt to be in the small city and the country or in a rather humble type of city streets. There you don't find much trading of social favors in hope of returns after the manner of the smart set. Instead work and play bind people together, and the neighbors say Good Morning without feeling lowered.

Lactic Acid is the arch enemy of the teeth. Under the microscope have been discovered twenty-two kinds of bacteria in the mouth; these feeding upon the particles of food carelessly allowed to remain in the teeth produce lactic acid. This acid seeks out the weak spots in the enamel and there decay immediately begins.

You can successfully contend against the depredations of lactic acid by the constant use of

SOZODONT

This world-renowned dentifrice being alkaline, produces a normal condition by neutralizing the mouth acids.

SOZODONT is a marvelous antiseptic and unexcelled deodorizer, yet it is so fragrant and delicious to the taste that every child who has used it loves it—an advantage to the mother who is teaching her children to clean their teeth.

SOZODONT TOOTH POWDER has a lasting fragrance. It is free from grit and acid, and gives the teeth a pearly lustre.

SOZODONT TOOTH PASTE is similar to Sozodont Tooth Powder, but in the form of a paste to accommodate those who prefer it that way.

THE HALL OF FAME.

THOMAS JEFFERSON—"Author of the Declaration of Independence and of the Virginia Statute For Religious Freedom and Father of the University of Virginia." At his own request these words were carved upon his tombstone, Jefferson apparently regarding these achievements as more important than the fact that he served two terms as president of the United States. He was born at Shadwell, Va., April 13, 1743, and died at Monticello, Va., July 4, 1826. Secretary of state 1790-3. Vice president 1797-01. President 1801-9; elected as candidate of Democratic-Republican party, which he founded. It was through Jefferson that the vast domain of the Louisiana territory was added to the United States and also that of the Oregon country.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING

is the way Miss Alta Abel of West Baden, Ind., summed up her existence after having sought in vain for health. She writes, "I was a complete wreck always tired, worn out and nervous. I had to spend about one-third of my time in bed, and my life was not worth living.

Vinol, your delicious cod liver and iron tonic, was recommended, and I can truly say it has done me more good than all the medicine I ever took in my life. That nervous and tired feeling is all gone. I have gained in health, flesh and strength, until I feel like another person." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

What Vinol did for Miss Abel, we know it will do for every nervous, run-down, overworked, tired, thin and discouraged woman in this vicinity.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be refunded if it does not help you. F. D. Hall, druggist, Newark, O.

Denison Club on Northern Ohio Tour

The basketball team of Denison University leaves this evening for a three days' Northern Ohio tour, [illegible]. The team plays Wesleyan, Baldwin, Reserve, Heam, Buchtel and Akron before returning.

For the Wesleyan game word has been received that over 1600 tickets have been sold and a special car will carry the Granville supporters to the game. The Denison boys have been doing great work this year and it is expected they will take over many of the games.

TAFT GETS AID OF DEMOCRATS

How Reciprocity Agreement Was Forced Through House.

SPEAKER CANNON AGGRIEVED.

Uncle Joe Apparently Dropped by President, and Champ Clark Is Made an Administration Ally—Minnesota Congressman Says Republicans Are Split Into Three Factions.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Many Republican politicians who were very sore over the manner in which the reciprocity agreement was forced through the house by the pressure of the administration [illegible] for Mr. Taft's [illegible] would bring out candidates against him. Stand[pat]ters were disgusted and so were [illegible] in our cates, and [illegible] there might be candidates of both factions.

There was much [illegible] because President Taft won the support of Democrats to carry through the Canadian agreement. "It is the first time since the Republicans returned to power in 1897," [illegible], "that a Republican president has had to resort to Democrats to put through any measure he favored. Even Roosevelt was always able to command Republican votes to pass the measures he advocated."

Cannon Men Aggrieved.

Speaker Cannon and his supporters are very much aggrieved. They say that President Taft used Uncle Joe as long as he was powerful, but as the end of the speaker's term approached he turned to Champ Clark and the Democrats and made them his allies. That is not altogether the way to put it, although it stands out boldly as the truth judged by the actual facts, but Mr. Taft would have been pleased to have the Republicans united on his program instead of a majority of them against him.

It was rather interesting to note also that in putting the agreement through the minority of the Republicans and the Democrats resorted to one of the most drastic gag rules ever used, even in the palmy days of Cannonism or under Czar Reed.

Three Factions.

"The Republican party is divided into three factions," remarked Congressman Stevens of Minnesota, who supported the president. "There are the extreme radicals calling themselves 'progressives;' then there are the standpatters; then there is a larger element who are conservative."

Of course it raised a laugh when some one suggested that no matter to which element Stevens belonged he would claim to be among the conservatives.

Stands by Old Soldiers.

Senator Scott of West Virginia would like to close his political career by putting through the Sulloway pension bill. He has warned the senate that old soldiers who would receive the benefit of the act are dying every hour while it is delayed and insisted that those senators who stand in the way of the latest pension bill will hear from it when the elections come around.

But there are quite a number of senators who intend to use all the means they have to prevent the passage of the bill. It is one of the measures which Senator Brown warned the senate must be voted upon if there was to be no extra session to pass the appropriation bills.

Talk of a Veto.

There is talk of a veto of the Sulloway pension bill if it reaches the president. Senator Scott, who is trying to get the bill passed, definitely asked senators if any one of them had authority to say that the president would veto the measure. No one came forward with any such assurance.

Whatever the president says about vetoes, extra sessions or anything directly relating to the business of congress is whispered about the cloak rooms and discussed in private conversation where it will have effect, but is never made official by a statement on the floor.

To Them That Hath.

Speaking for [illegible] seems to be the [illegible] to increase the salaries of [illegible] officials, while the clerks in [illegible] departments who have [illegible] a strong plea for [illegible] in these days of [illegible] of living have been ignored. [illegible] Why [illegible] should heads of departments and [illegible] were [illegible] ances [illegible] they [illegible] must [illegible]

The [illegible] from $[illegible] why [illegible] greatest [illegible] the secretary [illegible] president [illegible] from $[illegible] others whose salaries have been largely increased.

Has Several Commissions.

"I [illegible]," said Walter L. Smith of Iowa, [illegible] a member of the present congress and [illegible] of the next congress and [illegible] of the Illinois Circuit. I ought to [illegible] myself, but I am not."

THIS LATEST EQUESTRIAN STATUE OF WASHINGTON IS DISTINCTLY DIFFERENT.

BECAUSE it was unusual, which means new and different and distinctive, Sculptor J. Massey Rhind's design for an equestrian statue of George Washington was accepted by the executors of the Amos Van Horn estate to be set up in Washington park, Newark, N. J. It is the newest statue of the Father of His Country and in many respects the most interesting. Heretofore equestrian statues of whatever subject have shown the man on horseback. The Rhind Washington shows the general standing beside his charger, facing outward. It is said that this feature resulted in the acceptance of the design in competition with many others. In speaking of his work the other day Mr. Rhind said:

"When making the sketch it occurred to me that it would be well to present General Washington at his last camp, Rocky Hill. I have depicted him standing on a raised piece of ground and in the act of saying goodby before riding away to New York to see if the British had evacuated it. I wished to preserve the tall, dignified figure of Washington, and, although we always associate a horse with him, I am using the horse in this case more as a decoration. There is a limit to the variety of poses of a man sitting on a horse."

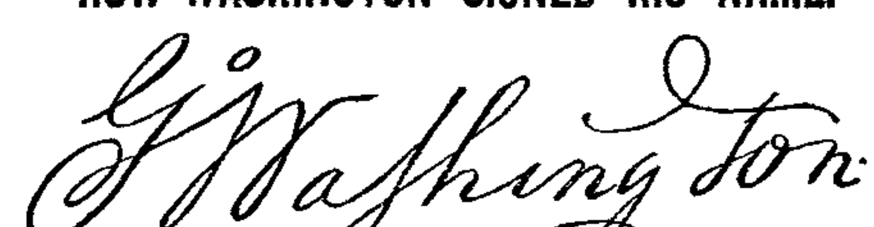

J. MASSEY RHIND'S NEW AND UNIQUE STATUE OF WASHINGTON

Washington, attired in the costume of a general, is shown wearing a riding cloak thrown over his shoulder. One of his hands rests on the pommel of the saddle, holding the reins. The horse is pawing the ground.

The statue is about twelve feet high, in bronze, and stands on a pedestal three feet high. The whole composition rests upon a mound about seventy-five feet in diameter, rising about seven feet above the surrounding ground line, making the total height of the monument twenty-one feet.

HOW WASHINGTON SIGNED HIS NAME.

WASHINGTON'S BOOKS.

Priceless Collection, Bearing His Autographs, In Boston Athenaeum.

In reviewing the final disposition of Washington's worldly goods it is interesting to recall the occasion when the larger part of his library, through the generosity of public spirited citizens, became the property of the Boston Athenaeum. Here the bulk of Washington's private library is now kept, carefully catalogued, snugly shelved and jealously guarded by stone walls.

The collection includes 455 volumes and about 750 pamphlets. Of these, 354 volumes, including 36 made up of pamphlets bound together and several hundred unbound pamphlets, may be assigned to General Washington's library, the large majority of them without question. The remaining eighty bound volumes and the rest of the pamphlets belonged to Judge Bushrod Washington or to other members of the Washington family.

The library committee of the athenaeum trustees in January, 1849, when it reported on this invaluable addition to the library, said:

"The greater number of these books contain George Washington's autograph, all of which, so distinguished, and next after them those which were presentation copies to him, and next to them those which contain his book plate or can in any other way be proved to have been in his possession would have been regarded, even in Europe, as curiosities of great interest and value and would command prices which might seem incredible to one unacquainted with the sums given for objects associated with the memory of highly distinguished men."

More Valuable.

"Don't you wish you were like George Washington and could not tell a lie?"

"Well, I would rather be constructed so that I could not believe one."

Gems From Washington's Farewell Address

Delivered Sept. 17, 1796.

THE very idea of the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government.

There is an opinion that parties in free countries are useful checks upon the administration of the government and keep alive the spirit of liberty. This within certain limits is probably true, and in governments of a monarchical cast patriotism may look with indulgence, if not with favor, upon the spirit of party. But in those of popular character, in governments purely elective, it is a spirit not to be encouraged.

Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all.

Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence I conjure you to believe me, fellow citizens, the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake, since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government.

JACKSONTOWN

The next number of the lecture course, Palmer's Lyceum Ladies' Quartette, will be March 11. The quartette is composed of Mrs. Palmer, contralto and reader; Miss Maud Harkleroad, soprano; Miss Lila Ashton, second soprano, and Miss Florence Hobson, alto. This promises to be one of the best numbers on the course.

MAKES GOOD, HEALTHY FLESH.

W. A. Erman & Son Offer to Pay for Samose if It Fails.

Begin the use of Samose today and you will soon notice a gain in good, healthy flesh. To all who are thin, weak and run down, this remarkable flesh-forming food promises plump, rosy, perfect health, vigor and vitality.

Most people eat enough to become fat; the trouble is not lack of food, but lack of assimilative power.

Samose mingles with the food that is eaten, so that it is assimilated by the blood, and builds up pleasing plumpness and good healthy flesh. Those who use Samose for a week or ten days will soon notice a gain in weight and an improvement in general strength and health.

Put good, solid flesh on your bones and you will be strong and well. In no other way can this be done than by the use of Samose. It gives plumpness and physical grace to the thin and scrawny, and will make you bright, rosy and normally fat.

Samose is in tablet form, pleasant to take, and is sold by one of the most reputable drug stores in Newark, W. A. Erman & Son, under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

"I have been somewhat costive, but Doan's Regulets gave just the results desired. They act mildly and regulate the bowels perfectly."—George B. Krause, 306 Walnut Ave., Altoona, Pa.

"THE ROSARY."

This beautiful new play, "The Rosary," under the direction of Rowland and Clifford, will be presented at the Auditorium theatre on Wednesday, Feb. 22 for two performances.

This play is now running at the Garden theatre in New York, and recently closed a three months' engagement in Chicago.

What is the cause of martial unrest? Why is it that the percentage of divorce cases rises steadily every day in the United States? Why should it be that today—tomorrow you may meet your happily married friend, and in response to your question regarding his wife, he shakes his head and replies, "divorced."

Why should all this be?

These are questions that the ablest minds have wrestled with for the past decade without even a mediocre answer. But the question will not down: it confronts every thinking man and woman over and over again. Legal brains have tried to reply; orators have used their eloquence; the papers have printed reams of matter and the pulpit has thundered its fulminations. Still the question remains unanswered—unsolved.

Now comes a modern play ensuing a drama called "The Rosary," written by Edward E. Rose, and produced by the well known theatrical managers, Messrs. Rowland and Clifford. Quietly and modestly, with no blaze of trumpets, it projects a quiet word into this turmoil of opinions, which many believe will revolutionize our ethics of marriage and divorce.

"BILLY, THE KID."

One of the feature attractions of the season to be presented at this theatre on Friday, Feb. 24, is the most successful play of the past decade, "Billy, The Kid," with the favorite young actor F. Dickenson in the title role. The entire production is carried complete and the cast been carefully selected. The play is in four acts, representing scenes realistic and correct of life on the Western plains.

"THE WOLF."

That immense scene in "The Wolf," which comes to the Auditorium theatre on Saturday, Feb. 25, afternoon and evening, in which a duel takes place before the audience but on a stage so dark that you can't tell which man is getting the worst of it—begins—then comes a fall, a deadly silence. One is killed. But which, the hero or the villain? And then a light flashes and you see—what you see. It's not only the big scene of the play, but the biggest, strongest and greatest scene ever placed on any stage.

ORPHEUM.

There are four high-class acts at the Orpheum. Each one really a feature, and judging from comments passed, it is one of the most interesting bills appearing at the Orpheum this season. Deonzo Bros. and Friday in their sensational novelty, consisting of some very clever jumping and acrobatic work which is really sensational, and most entertaining. Linney, Griffin, Emmert, three very clever people, presenting a farce comedy skit entitled "Her Husband's Friend," are certainly making a hit with everyone. The sketch is one big laugh from start to finish. Everyone is a real actor and works with an enthusiasm that makes their act one of the best of its kind. But if you want to see a real scream, don't miss Master Pettie, featuring in the Harrison-West Trio. He is just a little tot, but full of real live fun and when it comes to dancing he can't be beat. Every step is a laugh in itself. No one can afford to miss this as such an opportunity does not come this way often. Too much can not be said of the trio. If you enjoy a good Irish comedian, see Nick Conway. He has an excellent line of new jokes and clean comedy. His talk on women is simply great and his laughing song keeps you all roaring. Don't miss this excellent bill. The Orpheumscope has two feature films.

Cake vs. Powder

For general household cleaning, soap in powder form is more economical and efficient than in the bar. Gold Dust, one of the first soap powders—and still the best—can be used more economically than soap, because the quantity desired can be measured out and no more used. In using soap in the cake there is waste, more being used than is really needed, and the rest of the cake is water-soaked, causing the soap to lose its goodness. Moreover, Gold Dust contains other ingredients which soften the hardest water and allow the soap to do its work to best advantage.

FACSIMILE OF CONTEMPORARY ACCOUNT OF GEORGE WASHINGTON'S ENTOMBMENT.

THE matter below in heavy mourning border is reproduced, with slight reduction in column width, from a well preserved copy of the issue of the Ulster County Gazette for Jan. 4, 1800—more than 111 years ago. It is the most interesting contemporary account of the entombment of George Washington, who died at his home, Mount Vernon, Dec. 14, 1799. The Ulster County Gazette was a four page paper of four columns to the page published at Kingston, N. Y., by Samuel Freer & Son. Original copies of the paper containing this highly interesting historical matter are exceedingly rare. The one from which this facsimile was reproduced has been treasured in the family of a New Yorker for many years.

The poem "On the Death of General Washington, by a Young Lady," is a quaint production. The column rules of the two inside pages of the paper were turned to express mourning, a fashion which still prevails on occasion in many newspaper offices. The matter devoted to the death of Washington and his obsequies amounts to about three columns.

The general news and advertisements seen in this facsimile are delightful reading for the present day.

For the Ulster County Gazette.

ON THE DEATH OF GENERAL WASHINGTON.

[BY A YOUNG LADY.]

WHAT means that solemn dirge that ftrikes my ear?
What means those mournful sounds—why ftines the tear?
Why toll the bells the awful knell of fate?
Ah!—why those figns that do my fancy sate?

Where'er I turn the general gloom appears,
Those mourning badges fill my soul with fears,
Hark!—Yonder rueful noise!—'tis done!—'tis done!—
The filent tomb invades our WASHINGTON!—

Muft virtues exalted, yield their breath?
Muft bright perfection find relief in death?
Muft mortal greatness fail?—a glorious name!—
What then is riches, honour and true fame?

The auguft chief, the father and the friend,
The generous patriot——Let the muse commend;
Columbia's glory and Mount Vernon's pride.
There lies enfhrin'd with numbers at his side!

There let the figh respondent from the breaft,
Heave in rich numbers!—let the glowing zeft,
Of tears refulgent beam with grateful love;
And the sable mourning our affliction prove.

Weep!—kindred mortals—weep!—no more you'll find,
A man so juft, so pure, so firm in mind;
Rejoicing Angels, hail the heavenly sage!
Celeftial Spirits greet the wonder of the Age!—

WASHINGTON ENTOMBED

George Town, Dec 20.

On Wednesday laft, the mortal part of WASHINGTON the Great—the Father of his Country and the Friend of man, was configned to the tomb, with solemn honors and funeral pomp.

A multitude of persons affembled, from many miles round, at Mount Vernon, the choice abode and laft residence of the illuftrious chief. There were the groves—the spacious avenues, the beautiful and sublime scenes, the noble manfhion—but, alas! the auguft inhabitant was now no more. That great soul was gone. His mortal part was there indeed, but ah! how affecting! how awful the spectacle of such worth and greatness, thus, to mortal eyes, fallen!—Yes! fallen! fallen!

In the long and lofty Portico, where oft the Hero walked in all his glory, now lay the fhrouded corpse. The countenance still composed and serene, seemed to depress the dignity of the spirit, which lately dwelt in that lifeless form! There thoſe who paid the laft sad honours to the benefactor of his country, took an impressive—a farewell view.

On the ornament at the head of the coffin, was inscribed SURGE AD JUDICIUM—about the middle of the coffin, GLORIA DEO—and on the filver plate.

GENERAL
GEORGE WASHINGTON,
Departed this life, on the 14th December, 1799, Æt. 68.

Between three and four o'clock, the sound of artillery from a veffel in the river firing minute guns, awoke afresh our solemn sorrow—the corpse was removed—a band of mufic with mournful melody melted the soul into all the tenderness of woe.

The procession was formed & moved on in the following order:

Cavalry, Infantry, Guard. } With arms reversed.
Mufic,
Clergy,

The General's horse with his saddle, holfters and piftols.

Cols. Sims, Ramsay, Payne.	Pall Bearers.	CORPSE	Pall Bearers.	Cols. Gilpin, Marfteller, Little,

Mourners,
Masonic Brethern,
Citizens.

When the procession had arrived at the bottom of the elevated lawn, on the banks of the Potomac, where the family vault is placed, the cavalry halted, the infantry marched towards the Mount and formed their lines—the Clergy, the Masonic Brothers, and the Citizens, descended to the Vault, and the funeral service of the Church was performed.—The firing was repeated from the veffel in the river, and the sounds echoed from the woods and hills around.

Three general discharges by the infantry—the cavalry, and 11 pieces of artillery, which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the Vault, paid the laft tribute to the entombed Commander in Chief of the Armies of the United States and to the departed Hero.

The sun was now setting. Alas! the son of GLORY was set forever. No—the name of WASHINGTON—the American President and General—will triumph over DEATH! The unclouded brightness of his Glory will illuminate the future ages!

First In All Hearts.

The people of all races swear by Washington—
There's ample reason for it when all is said and done.
The Germans yield him homage, though foemen they were erst,
Because he was so brave when things appeared the wurst,
And also do the Irish, because he was so war in'
To risk his gallant life when busy Inniskill'n.
The French, of course, have cause to gladder when they note
That George wore frogs upon his campaign overcoat,
And since in strategy he played the possum stolid
That likewise makes him with the colored brother solid,
And since at Valley Forge he wintered very illy
The Mexican with truth asserts that George was chili,
But still the Chinaman admires him greatest when
'Tis known that George was first of all the hatchet men.

Lord Byron on Washington.

Can tyrants but by tyrants conquered be
And Freedom find no champion and no child
Such as Columbia saw arise when she
Sprang forth a Pallas, armed and undefiled,
Or must such minds be nourished in the wild,
Deep in the unpruned forest, midst the roar
Of cataracts, where nursing Nature smiled
On infant Washington? Has Earth no more
Such seeds within her breast or Europe no such shore?

He Would Have Learned.

Wijjit — George Washington, you know, could not tell a lie even when his father questioned him about his wrongdoing.

Fijjit — Well, if he had had a father like some men I know he would have learned to lie without much delay.

EDWARD KIBLER, JR. WINS MAIDEN EFFORT COMMON PLEAS COURT

Ably Argues Demurrer to Answer and Cross Petition in Partition Suit—Court House News.

The court of common pleas sustained the demurrer of Edward Kibler, as guardian of Edwin S. Hand, to the answer and cross petition of Clarissa Hand in a suit brought to partitition the Catherine Hand farm near Union Station. Clarissa Hand claimed that as the former wife of Edwin S. Hand she was entitled to the value of her dower interest in the share of her former husband in the proceeds of the sale of this farm. His guardian contended that she had no such right. This view was sustainably argued by Edward Kibler, Jr. in common pleas court and was a maiden effort that was highly commended by those who heard him.

Common Pleas Court.

Judge Seward will preside Thursday and thereafter for a few days in the trial of criminal cases. Judge Devor will preside at the trial of civil cases. Judge Seward will hold court in the court room upstairs and Judge Devor in the convention room. The grand jury will sit in the ladies' circulating library room.

The case for trial tomorrow in the civil branch of the court is Manville vs. C. L. & E. Ry. Co., a suit for damages for personal injuries sustained by plaintiff after alighting from a street car in this city.

R. G. Smythe has been appointed assistant prosecutor and will represent the state at the trial of criminal cases this week. The prosecuting attorney, Phil. B. Smythe, will be before the special grand jury.

Taken Under Advisement.

The case of J. H. Hawley vs. Seymour Smith et al. was tried in the court of common pleas yesterday. This is a case of enormous proportions over an infinitesimal strip of land constituting a boundary line between two farms near Pataskala. The matter tried yesterday was an issue made as to whether the case had been settled, plaintiff claiming that the settlement had been made and asked an enforcement of the agreement of settlement. The settlement was denied by Smith. The matter was submitted to Judge Seward, who took it under advisement. Kibler & Kibler represented the plaintiff and Jones & Jones, Smythe & Smythe, J. M. Swartz and A. J. Beals of Fairfield county, represented the defendant.

Probate Court.

In probate court Wednesday morning the case of Etta May Ward vs. Thomas Ward was concluded and the hearing of the testimony completed. The case will be submitted on briefs by A. A. Stasel for plaintiff and Kibler & Kibler for defendant, within a few days.

Probation Officer Sheridan Arrives Home With Prisoners.

Several days ago, on complaint of Nellie Hager, a warrant for the arrest of Ollie Hager was issued by Justice George W. Horton, on the charge of deserting his minor children. It was learned that Hager was in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and the warrant was placed in the hands of Probation Officer James Sheridan for service. Mr. Sheridan obtained the necessary papers from the governor's office to bring Hager back to Newark and left for that city Monday. On his arrival at Albany, N. Y., he wired the chief of police of Poughkeepsie to arrest and hold Hager until his arrival. When he arrived at Poughkeepsie, he found that Hager had been arrested and was in custody. He arrived home Tuesday night with his prisoner, who was placed in the county jail to await his hearing.

Demurrer Sustained.

The case of William Allen Veach for the Newark Water Company vs. Cochran & Johnson, being a controversy over the water supply furnished to the Idlewilde Park during the defendant's control over the same was submitted to Judge Seward some time ago upon a demurrer to the petition, the defendants claiming that the petition did not state a case. Tuesday sustained by the court, and against them. This demurrer was held that the petition was insufficient and the plaintiff took leave to amend. Jones & Jones for plaintiff and B. F. McDonald and Kibler & Kibler for the defedants.

Serving Subpoenas for Special Juries.

Notwithstanding the fact that Wednesday was a legal holiday, the offices of Sheriff Slabaugh and County Clerk Larason were open for business. The forces in these two offices are especially busy just now in issuing and serving subpoenas in connection with the work of the special grand jury now in session. In addition there is the serving of 36 subpoenas for the venire drawn from which to select the jury to try Robert Cleveland, who was indicted for first degree murder in the lynching of Carl Etherington, the serving of subpoenas for the special petit jury to try the cases on the criminal docket of the common pleas court and also in getting ready for the trial of the criminal cases that will commence on Thursday, Feb. 23.

The Wicked Giant

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How the Giant Lost His Life

"THIS happened a long, long time ago, when there were giants and fairies [illegible] over the world," said daddy one evening to [illegible]. "The giant in this story was a wicked old fellow, about twelve feet [illegible] who lived on an island all by himself. "Whenever [illegible] he used to get into his boat, row over to the mainland [illegible]. The folks did not like this at all, but as [illegible] the giant they did not know what could be done. [illegible] to fight the giant with swords and spears and bows and arrows [illegible] were in those days, but it did no good. The giant [illegible] for them. Once when they knew that the bad big man was [illegible] they sent some men over to his island to bore a hole in the bottom of his boat so that when he should try to row over to the mainland the boat should fill with water and he should be drowned. But that did not do any good, for when the boat sank the giant simply swam to the land.

"Then the folks asked the king to help them against the giant. But the king said, 'I should like to help you, but our men are only small and the giant is too big for us.' One [illegible] lady of the court, however, had an idea and said:

"'I think I can trap that wicked old fellow.'

"'How?' they all asked.

"'This way,' said the clever lady. 'You know I am considered a good singer, the best in this country. The next time the giant comes over to the mainland I shall hide myself in the bushes near the shore. As soon as he lands I shall begin to sing without showing myself. Of course he will want to know where the singing comes from, and he will go to the bushes. Then I shall lead him on and on, farther and farther, until I shall lead him over a pit which you shall dig for him. Of course he will be so busy listening to my singing that he will not think of looking out for a trap. You must cover the pit with earth so that I shall not fall into it myself.'

"Every one thought it was a clever idea, and they all set to work digging a great pit near the seashore. They covered the hole over lightly with branches and earth so that it looked like solid ground. It would bear an ordinary person, but not a great big fellow like the giant.

"Well, the next time the giant came over all the people hid themselves in the bushes. The singer hid herself behind a great rock, and when the giant landed from his boat she began to sing. With her beautiful voice she led the giant on and on until he fell into the pit and was killed."

Lincoln hoisted the stars and stripes over Independence hall, Philadelphia, then continued his journey to Harrisburg, as scheduled, with his whole traveling party. At 6 p. m. he secretly slipped away from his family and suite and set out by regular trains on a night trip to Washington.

Edward Payson Weston (now noted pedestrian) started from Boston at 1 p. m. to walk to Washington, 470 miles, and witness the inauguration of Lincoln March 4.

OBITUARY

DAVID H. BARRICK.

Many friends throughout Licking county, especially in Madison township, will be pained to learn of the death of David H. Barrick, who died at his home on East Main street, near the Children's Home, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, after an illness of some time. The deceased was aged 68 years, and is survived by his widow and one daughter, Irene.

At this time it is not known when the funeral services will be held.

CLYDE YOUNG.

Clyde Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Young of Old Goshen, died on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock of typhoid pneumonia. He was well known in this community, having worked here for the past two years. He was 19 years old. Interment was made in the West Carlisle cemetery. He leaves to mourn his death six brothers and two sisters.

FUNERAL OF MRS. AARON BAIRD

The funeral of Mrs. Aaron Baird, who died Tuesday morning at her home, 2 1-2 miles southeast of Black Hand, will be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, sun time, and the interment will be made in the Hanover cemetery.

The deceased leaves three daughters, Mrs. C. B. Gutridge of Zanesville, Mrs. John McKnight, Miss Mary, at home, and two sons, T. J. Baird and Edgar Baird.

SORE FEET GO

Evans' Drug Store Lands the Agency for Ezo, Already the Greatest Remedy for Painful Feet.

Rejoice and be glad, all ye residents of Newark who suffer from sore, painful, burning or smarting feet, for Evans' Drug Store now sells Ezo, for the feet, the different remedy that banishes all misery from the feet and makes them feel fine in almost no time. Ezo for the feet is a purified ointment, very pleasant to use, and a large glass jar costs only 25 cents.

It surely is the finest thing on earth for swollen and aching feet and it promptly extracts the pain and soreness from corns, bunions and callouses.

If you want a pair of comfortable feet that won't give you any bother throughout a strenuous day, get Ezo for the feet and rub it in.

Besides Ezo for the feet we also made EZO REFINED OINTMENT an unfailing remedy for chapped hands and face; for a delightful massage; for use after shaving; for red nose and for all diseases of the skin.

The price of Ezo Refined ointment is 50 cents a jar, but a trial treatment will be sent to any address on cents in stamps to cover mailing Ezo Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y.

BRILLIANCY.

Brilliant men like to have as their helpmates brilliant women. The essence of marriage is companionship, and the woman you face across the coffee urn every morning for years must be both able to appreciate your jokes and to sympathize with your aspirations. If this is not so the man will stray actually or else chase the ghosts of dead hopes through the graveyard of his dreams. Prettiness palls unless it is backed up by intellect. The merely clever woman is nearly as bad as the clever man. All those people who carry most of their goods in the show window are headed for jobs at the button counter.—Elbert Hubbard.

Rheumatism in Ankles

ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS. One Bottle of Rheuma Cured Woman Who Could Not Walk.

Marvelous as this story may seem, it is absolutely true; but this is only one of the many almost magical cures that Rheuma is performing these days.

Mrs. Gertrude Kezel, Smithfield, Pa., wrote on Feb. 14, 1910: "I had rheumatism for over a year; it settled in my ankles and I could not walk. I have taken one bottle of Rheuma and do not have any more pain, and I can again walk at will."

Evans' Drug Store will sell any reader of the Advocate a bottle of Rheuma for 50 cents and guarantee it to cure any case of any kind of rheumatism or money back.

Gratifying relief comes in a day because Rheuma acts at one time on the kidneys, stomach, liver and blood, and starts to rid the entire system of poisonous uric acid at once.

Mail orders filled, charges prepaid, by Rheuma Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for free trial bottle.

English Marhue is the real remedy for Indigestion, 5 cents at Evans' Drug Store, or mailed by Rheuma Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

No, Clara, dear, a note in the bank and a banknote in your pocket is not one and the same thing. Mr. James K. Dewey will be glad to explain the exact difference if you will step into the Franklin Bank tomorrow.

The bankers and school teachers were the only people in town who had a holiday, February 22, unless you count the children. A nice thing about the banking business is that a bank earns about as much money on a holiday as on any other day.

PIMPLES CURED IN TEN DAYS

OR YOUR MONEY BACK.

Any one who has pimples, boils, blackheads, liver spots, open sores and eruptions should know it is because of bad blood. The circulation has become contaminated with matter that has diseased the blood, which is being forced out of the system through the pores of the skin. This condition cannot be cured unless you remove the cause. Bin-Ter Complexion Tablets purify the blood, strengthen the system and make your skin healthy, thus restoring your complexion to its clear, youthful appearance. If Bin-Ter don't cure you we will return your money.

Under the purifying and tonic effect of Bin-Ter Complexion Tablets the system will be built up and your skin cleared, usually in about ten days. Sold and recommended by T. J. Evans. Send 20c to Bin-Ter Laboratory, 155 E. Washington St., Chicago, Ill., for large sample.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY IS FITTINGLY CELEBRATED BY DENISON TRAINING CLUB

Appropriate Program and Elegant Banquet Rendered —Tribe of Ben Hur to Be Instituted in Granville Thursday Evening—Work Began for the May Festival Which Promises to Be a Great Musical Treat.

Granville, Feb. 22.—While the regular Washington banquet, which is an annual feature of Denison University, and is given by the members of the Senior class, will not be held until Friday night the birthday of that illustrious personage was celebrated in a most fitting manner on Tuesday evening by the members of the Training club, a social organization composed of students of Denison University. The affair, which was in the nature of a banquet, was prepared by Mrs. Jano Buckland, and was served at the Buckland home on West Broadway. There were present about forty persons who sat down to the banquet, including two professors of the college, Prof. Williams and Dr. McKibben. At each plate were beautiful souvenirs, which were in the nature of small hatchets. The menu was most excellent in all its details and was only such as can be prepared by Mrs. Buckland. After full justice had been done to the good things provided, Prof. C. L. Williams, in his inimitable style, delivered a mirth provoking address on 'Not Telling Lies." While the address was brimming over with witticisms, still it contained a vein of truth, and was greatly appreciated by those who heard it.

A Court of the Tribe of Ben Hur will be instituted on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, in Assembly Hall, Granville. This hall is in the new city building, rear of the Opera House. State Manager J. C. Foster of Dayton, will be present to make an address, and possibly one of the Supreme officers will also be present. This bids fair to be one of the strong, permanent orders of Granville.

One of the educators of the village in conversation with your reporter regarding the methods used in teaching writing in our schools at the present time, said that he has hopes for improved handwriting on the part of the pupils now attending school. "My hopes are based," he said, "on a present social custom. It is the fashion now to engrave presents in the handwriting of the giver. The inscription may be only a word or it may be a page, but it should be an exact copy of somebody's handwriting. Persons who have hitherto written an illegible hand, and boasted of it, have the grace to feel ashamed of themselves when they see those heirogliphics preserved for generations, and before handing over a sample of their writing to the engraver, they take special lessons in penmanship."

The coming Spring Festival, which is to be held in May, promises to be the finest musical treat ever held in Granville. The Engwerson Choral society has already commenced work in preparation for the big event. Haydn's "Creation," together with some smaller works, will be given by the chorus, and the nature of the other concerts will be announced at some time in the near future. From now on rehearsals are to be held every Monday evening.

The indications are that there will be one of the biggest building booms in Granville during the coming season that there has been in a number of years, and promises to exceed in volume that of any previous year according to interviews with contractors and architects. One contractor said, "In all the years of my contracting in Granville, I never before had so many applicants for estimates and plans for homes."

The public schools of the village were dismissed on Wednesday because of Washington's birthday. Usually there is some observance of the day in the schools here, but this year, especially in the High school, there was no regular special program carried out.

On Wednesday evening of next week will be given the sixth Composer Recital at Recital Hall at 6:45 o'clock in Recital Hall. The program will be devoted to Tshaikowski's music, and promises to be very interesting

One of the most interesting and instructive meetings of the Denison Layman Association, that has been held for some time, was that held on Tuesday night of this week in Burton Hall, when Miss Montgomery very effectively read the fourth act of Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird," and Mr. Hoppe gave several readings from Browning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Freeman of Indianapolis, who have been visiting relatives and friends in the village for a few days, have returned home, having had a very pleasant visit.

A meeting of the trustees of the Welsh Hills cemetery will be held at the home of Jenkin Jones on Wednesday evening, March 1st at 7 o'clock. All interested are invited to attend.

All the arrangements for the Washington banquet to be held in Cleveland hall on Friday evening of this week, are rapidly nearing completion.

Miss Minnie Bullock of Plymouth, O., who has been here enjoying a short visit with her friend, Miss Jessie Davis, who is attending school here, returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. H. D. Williams of Canton enjoyed a short visit here with relatives and friends during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harvey of Toledo, who have been making an extended visit with relatives in the east, passed through Granville Tuesday, en route home.

DEAN BILL

bill, and some of these were insecure.

With a preacher to the right of him and a preacher to the left of him Speaker Vining presided over the debate with admirable impartiality. In silence, enforced by the speaker, packed galleries listened.

Sergeant-at-arms Melching deserted his post and his assistants were unable to repel the crush at the doors. Spectators filled the space back of the iron railing until a vote of the house cleared it. One sweet woman hurled a defiant "What do you think of the nerve?" as she went out. Yet without molestation, Supreme Clerk McKean, Attorney General Hogan and other state officers remained on the floor.

Chairman Welsh of the temperance committee charged that the gallery tickets had been juggled.

The debate was more temperate in tone than the discussion of the bill at the public hearings in the senate and house. It was free from personal clashes with the one exception of vehement dissent by Greeves of Cleveland to assertions made by Black of Ashland.

Black, instancing the opposition of the Sunday schools, churches, labor organizations and farmers' grange to the bill, declared there had been unsuccessful attempts by the wets to line up the labor vote and the Catholic clergy for it.

Greeves declared Black's speech "a tissue of misstatements," and said "Any man who would attempt to round up the Catholic clergy for legislation would be a fit subject for a lunatic asylum." He added that the church taught total abstinence, but the late Cardinal Gibbons and other dignitaries had said prohibition never prohibits.

Saying no law was ever thrust on the people by so vicious a temperance crusade as the Rose law, Alexander of Cincinnati contended that instead of the Dean bill giving the wets two votes on local option, it brought home the fact that the Rose law gave the drys two votes. If a town in a dry county was opposed to prohibition, no municipal officer could be elected on a platform of a strict enforcement of the law. He charged the Anti-Saloon League opposed improvement in conditions of the worst saloons, and wanted the worst sort of saloons because they were the easiest to vote out.

Guard of Champaign asserted the Rose law had been enforced in all but a few counties as well as could be done in the face of determined efforts of the liberals to make the law prove a failure. He argued that when the whole county voted, electors could not be colonized, as they could be in towns which voted separately under the Dean bill, in that way making possible small wet majorities in dry communities.

"The law," he said, "is enforced in Champaign county and could be in Licking and Muskingum, if the officers were alert and conscientious." If more liquor was drunk in dry counties, as pointed out by the liberals, why were the brewers and distillers doing all they could to make them wet? he asked.

Fellinger of Cleveland caused a laugh by saying a nice old lady had written him a letter, calling him the leader of "the six wet devils" of the temperance committee. He said: "We have booze because we have people who drink beer. We do not have people who drink beer because we have booze." He charged the Anti-Saloon League with responsibility for all the blind pigs in Ohio.

Morris of Van Wert announced his "soul cried out at the idea that we must nullify the law because we can't enforce it."

Arguing there was an implied pledge for the Dean bill in the Democratic platform, Greeves of Cleveland quoted Scripture in support of the measure and charged "The Anti-Saloon officers would crucify Christ for turning water into wine."

Kilpatrick of Trumbull threatened to bolt the Democratic party if the accusation proved true that it was allied with the liberal interests.

"It is said we Democrats have espoused the cause of the liquor interests," he began. "Durand said so and members here have said so. If that be true if the Democratic party is the whisky party, I say as a Democrat, God speed the day when the party goes down in ignominious defeat. And I will devote my life to help defeat it."

"This," said Kilpatrick, "is the first time since the constitution was framed in 1851, that a measure has been before the legislature, asking a law to restore saloons. Every other law had been enacted to curtail the evils arising from the liquor traffic."

Rev. Mr. Lorenz of Springfield, a wet, called time on Kilpatreick but was squelched by Speaker Vining.

Fulkerson of Muskingum said Zanesville, the garden spot of the world two years ago, now that it was dry, was a cemetery. Criticizing utterances of Sunday, the evangelist, he said, "I'm going to support this bill, and if I go to hell I am sorry I will have to associate there with Billy Sunday."

Crist of Delaware chaffed Greeves for quoting Scripture for the Dean bill and asked if he were going to quote "Keep the Sabbath day holy" for his baseball bill. "Like the Indian we have heard about, there is no good saloon but a dead saloon," said Crist. "They talk about the fairness of this proposition. I voted for the Rose law, not to be fair to the saloon, but to shut them up."

He argued that as saloons, like groceries, were set up in the towns, the social centers, not in the country, to allow the cities alone to vote would nullify the farmer sentiment which didn't want saloons in the towns for the township people to go to. If the Rose law had caused trouble and bloodshed, what was one man lynched to the thousands destroyed by the evils of saloons. Brace up and enforce the law, was his advice.

Kennedy of Allen regretted the bill didn't absolutely repeal the Rose law. Hillenkamp of Toledo declared it time a license law disposed of the saloon question. He said he favored restricting saloons to the sale of beer, and that an English commission had reported nothing was more nourishing than a diet of beer, bread and cheese.

Vaughan said his county, Morrow, was unalterably opposed to any amendment of the Rose law.

Cooper of Mahoning said there were 100 more saloons in Youngstown since the county voted to stay wet and that labor unions were against the Dean bill.

That the Rose law made the home a saloon by saying a bona-fide private residence was the only place where liquor could be given away in dry territory was the charge made by Davidson of Columbiana, who said: "The Rose law would have the hand that rocks the cradle the hand that serves the drinks." He argued that the municipality was the proper unit for option elections.

Smith of Butler called opponents of the bill Pharisees, and said: "Don't get scared at the picture of the fellow who gets intoxicated. We will always have him whether the saloons go or not."

Gibbs of Lorain said the passage of the bill would be the greatest crime perpetrated by any legislature in the country.

"I have been here five years," said Freiner of Vinton, and I have never heard anyone try to set up by argument that the open saloon would do anybody any good. Back of the Dean bill is the most powerful trust in the world. It produces $2,000,000,000 worth a year.

"Turning to the Democrats, he said: "Your party declared against special interests. You went on record against them. You preached that doctrine until the people took you at your word. Here today as a party, largely so, you are backing up the meanest of all trusts.

"If this question were not above party, I'd vote for this bill to make you responsible for it and send it down to your governor. What would he do with it? He would veto it if he acted as he did on a similar matter last year. What is this bill? It is dollars against humanity."

Smit, Wayne B Wheeler, who organized the successful attack on the bill, said last night:

"The day after the election our polls showed the senate was wet, and a majority of the house members elected were against any measure like the Dean bill. We never changed our belief that the lower house would represent correctly the dominant sentiment of this state, favoring the county option law."

Pledges Broken, Says Dean.

Senator Dean said:

"The defeat of the bill was brought about by the desertion of members unqualifiedly pledged to the support of the measure. They promised to vote for the bill and failed at the last moment. I am not prepared now to analyze the vote close enough to make any further statement."

Percy Andrea of Cincinnati, in charge of the wet forces, who covertly threatened Governor Harmon with the hostility of the liberals because of the defeat of the bill, made this statement:

"The result of the vote on the Dean bill is a disappointment, but not entirely a surprise to those interested in the passage of the bill. The political and other influences that were steadily at work for several weeks to undermine the acknowledged strength of the liberals in the house and to alienate the votes of many representatives, who had pledged themselves to support the bill, prior to their election last fall, were many and various, and the tactics employed in accomplishing these results were mostly of a character that could not be met without a sacrifice of principles, which the liberals set above the mere success of the cause they advocate.

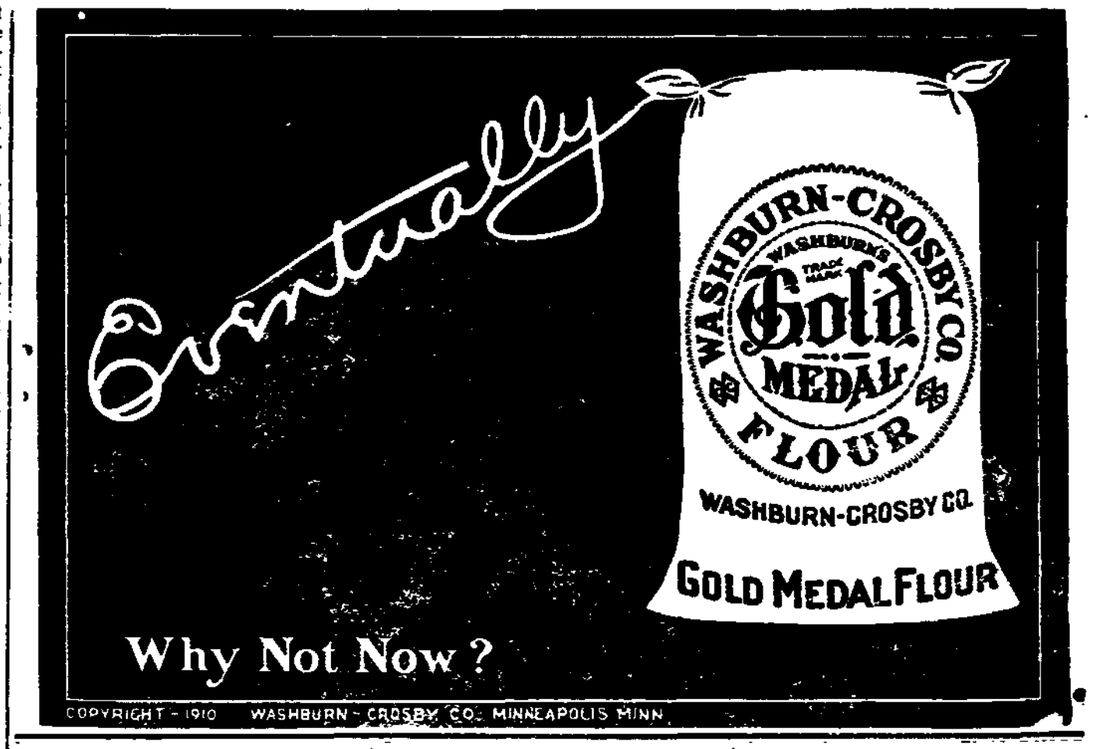

Threat Against Harmon.

"Indeed, in recapitulating the events of the contest now over, the one salient feature of that contest, which must become patent to every intelligent observer, is the circumstance that fairness, honesty and unwavering integrity characterized every move of those in charge of the liberal interests, while every expedient that cunning, selfishness and cowardice could suggest was resorted to by those who, either openly or covertly, opposed those interests.

"These facts in all their details are known and fully appreciated far beyond the confines of Ohio. The organized liberal elements throughout the United States have watched the course of events in Columbus with the closest attention, and it can be confidently predicted that the effect of today's proceedings in the Ohio house of representatives, so far as those liberal elements are concerned, will be one of nation-wide significance."

The Greeves bill to permit city councils to decide whether or not Sunday baseball may be played in the event the legislature passes the other Grieves bill to legalize Sunday games, will come up as a special order in the house today.

Representative Bertsch's bill giving cities the right to establish municipal pawnshops, went to the senate committee on municipal affairs yesterday. It is to be given an early hearing. The referendum clause has made a hit with progressive senators and its passage is predicted.

S.S.S. CURES CATARRH

The diagnosis of disease is the first and really most important step in the successful treatment of any trouble. In other words, first find the source or cause, and then use the remedy most naturally and scientifically suited to the condition.

We do not believe there is any disease in which improper treatment is more often used than in Catarrh. So many persons treat the symptoms without giving thought to the causes which produce these symptoms, and the result is that Catarrh is considered incurable by a great many, simply because local treatment has failed to accomplish the desired result.

Every symptom of Catarrh points to impure blood; we are sure a short analysis of the disease and its symptoms will convince any one that this statement is true. First we have irritated and inflamed mucous membranes of the head, nose, and throat, from which there is a constant and copious discharge of watery matter. This comes from inflammation of these mucous surfaces and is caused by catarrhal matters and impurities in the circulation. Nature intends that these membranes shall all be nourished by the blood, and so long as this vital fluid is pure it satisfactorily performs this necessary work, but waste matters and impurities deposited into these delicate parts sets up inflammation, and the discharge is a natural result. When this secretion begins to dry it assumes thicker proportions and becomes sticky; then it adheres to the throat and upper back portion of the mouth, causing the "hawking" and straining so troublesome to Catarrh sufferers.

Other ordinary symptoms of the disease are headaches, pains above the cheek bones, roaring sounds in the ears, etc. These symptoms too point directly to diseased blood, and are caused by congestion of the circulation. The impurities and catarrhal matters in the blood stream interfere with its easy and natural flow, and it becomes feverish and thus affects the delicate fibres and membranes of the throat and head.

S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter, and at the same time building up the system by its unequalled tonic effects. It goes down into the circulation, and removes every trace of impurity or foreign matter. In other words S. S. S. cures Catarrh by purifying the blood so that the mucous surfaces and linings of the body are supplied with healthy blood instead of being constantly irritated and diseased from the saturation of catarrhal impurities. Then the inflamed membranes heal, the discharge is checked, the head noises all cease, the stomach is toned up, the throat is no longer clogged with phlegm, but every annoying symptom of Catarrh is corrected. There is but one way to cure Catarrh—purify the blood, and there is but one absolutely safe and sure blood purifier —S. S. S. We have a special book on Catarrh; we will send this book, and also any medical advice desired free to all who write.

Gentlemen:—I wrote you some time ago giving you an account of my sufferings with an awful case of Catarrh. I had all the symptoms that accompany this disease, such as mucus dropping back into the throat, a constant desire to hawk and spit, feeling of dryness in the throat, cough and spitting upon rising in the morning, scabs forming in the nose, which required much effort to blow out, sometimes causing the nose to bleed and leaving me with a sick headache. I had thus suffered for five years. As soon as I heard from you I commenced to take S. S. S. as you advised, and after I had taken several bottles, I noticed a change for the better. Thus encouraged, I continued to take it, and in a short while was entirely cured.

LOAN EXHIBIT FOR BENEFIT OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

Everybody is becoming interested in the public library, for it is "the people's literary center. Nothing adds so much to the betterment of the city as a good library, well filled with the best literature of the day. Not alone the latest and best of educational publications, but as well lighter reading by the best writers. In fact, a well stocked and well supplied library will contain matter for every taste and every demand. It takes time and money, however, to properly equip any library, and Newark is long on the former but shy on the latter, and the women's clubs of the city are a unit in desiring to assist in getting the money necessary to properly equip the Newark library.

The demands at present on the library are far ahead of its capacity to supply them, although an earnest effort is being made to add the necessary equipment. There has been a prompt response on the part of our generous citizens to the call for aid but there is still an absolute need of a general rally along the lines of all classes to make a success of the work. To the end that funds may be raised in a manner that will not be a hardship on any one, but will on the other hand, give value received for what is asked, the women's clubs have decided upon a loan exhibit, whereby articles of great value, exquisite paintings, rare specimens of art, antiques of all varieties, specimens of choice artistic handiwork—in fact, everything that will attract the eye and charm the senses will be placed on exhibition, that the public may have the opportunity of seeing these highly prized decorations and keepsakes.

It is up to the public to make a success of this exhibition, and as it is for the benefit of the public, there should be no hesitancy in giving a generous and whole-souled support to it.

OVER MILLION FOR ADVERTISING

Chicago, Feb. 22—One and a quarter million dollars are to be spent for advertising during 1911 by the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads. This startling statement was made at the end of a conference of some 50 of the passenger officials of the lines interested, held in Chicago this week.

Such an expenditure for advertising is unparalleled in railroad history and indicates the great confidence of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads in the prosperity of this country.

A large share of the entire amount will be devoted to newspaper and periodical advertising.

"What this sum will be charged to advertising on the books" said Passenger Traffic Manager Gerrit Fort. "The purpose for which it will be used is the peopling of the empire of the west, the filling up of the fertile lands in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, California, Oregon, Montana, Washington and Nevada."

BAKER'S STORY ON NEWARK IN APRIL NUMBER

Ray Stannard Baker's story about Newark will appear in the April number of the American Magazine.

The editor of the American Magazine gives a page announcement of this article in the March number, just published, the announcement, in part, reading as follows:

"A thrilling article is going into the next number—the April number—of this magazine. It will contain some terrible things, but it will perform an important service, we hope. Ray Stannard Baker, who has been thoroughly over the ground and the documents in the case, is the author. . . . Mr. Baker is the very man to report and interpret a situation of this kind. He takes up Newark just as he might take up a character in a novel—showing how it was running down hill to destruction, chiefly by the whisky route, how it reached a crisis, and then what course it decided to take. Mr. Baker, as readers of this magazine know, has breadth of view and a sort of genius for getting at what is suggestive. He is the ideal national reporter. His article will be found to be dramatic and yet exceedingly thought-provoking. It is the greatest document on the temperance question published in years."

Mr. Baker was in Newark for four days in January. He talked with scores of people, interviewed men of every station, learned the facts connected with the Newark tragedy of July, 1910, and got his information regarding conditions from both the "wets" and the "drys."

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured and the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr Harlanson, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and new-fangled breakfast foods simply makes matters worse as any dyspeptic who has tried them knows.

As Dr. Bennett says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many people seem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores or is protected by a trade mark it must be a humbug whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is observant knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured more people of catarrh of the stomach, indigestion, heartburn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run down condition generally than all the patent medicines and doctors' prescriptions for stomach trouble combined.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send your name and address today for a free trial package and see for yourself. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Proposed Terms Japanese Treaty Cause Indignation

San Francisco, Feb. 22.—The publication of the terms of the proposed treaty with Japan has caused intense indignation here and throughout the state. The radicals in the legislature are already talking of reviving and passing the anti-Japanese legislation dropped early in the session. It is very doubtful whether Governor Johnson and the progressives can hold the rest in check.

Begy's Mustarine Drives Aches and Pains From the Body.

T. J. Evans sells Mustarine and sells lots of it. It's a new idea; it's made to take the place of dirty, blistering mustard plasters, and at the same time do all the good things the dirty mustard plaster will do, and has been doing for a hundred years.

Begy's Mustarine is not greasy or sticky and will not blister. But it will kill headache, earache, backache and pain in chest quicker than the best mustard plaster your grandmother ever made.

And for pleurisy, sore throat, coughs and colds and for swollen and rheumatic joints it has no equal. As much in a yellow box as will do the work of forty mustard plasters, and only 25 cents. It's better than any liniment.

NEWARK BOYS ARE INVITED TO MEETING

The Boys' Bible class at the Young Men's Christian Association held their regular meeting last night, some thirty boys being in attendance. Prof. Cromer made a very forcible talk to the boys which they always appreciate very much. The boys enjoy these talks and appreciate everything their instructor says. He told the boys Tuesday night to pick out some mark and strive to live up that mark and said he did not know of any better mark to strive for than our Saviour and requested that each try to live to each other and to every one they come in conact with that kind of a life and that they would be better men and be of some use in this world and be of great service to their Master.

Boys meet every Tuesday night at 6 o'clock. Bill of fare for next week will be mashed potatoes, wieners, coffee and rolls. Price 5 cents. Every boy of Newark invited.
